VOLUME LIV — UKIAH CITY, MENDOCINO COUNTY, CAL., FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1922 — NUMBER 16

PRUNE MEETING HERE JAN. 24TH

A meeting for the members in this district of the California Prune and Apricot Growers, Inc., is scheduled for Tuesday, January 24, at 1:30 p. m., in the city hall, when General Manager H. G. Coykendall and Secretary H. G. Dunlap will be here, especially to meet the growers and hold a conference with them on questions of interest in the advancement of the association.

Announcement is made that the aim of the visit is to answer questions of growers as to the management of the association, the handling of the 1920 and 1921 crops, contract forms, etc.

A statewide educational campaign, aimed to give the general public and particularly the business men of the Pacific coast, information about the great California co-operative marketing associations of growers, has been launched by the directors from association headquarters at San Jose.

The purpose of the campaign will be to inform the public about farmers' co-operative organizations and tell it why these associations were formed, how they operate and how they work to the benefit of the consumers and the business man as well as for the growers.

The campaign will consist of a series of speaking tours to be made throughout the state by Dr. F. M. Coleman, formerly a grower himself, and an experienced public speaker, who was appointed lecturer for the association by the board of directors.

Coykendall, in explaining the educational work undertaken by the association, said:

"Co-operative marketing in California has been more successful than in any other place in the world and has brought millions of dollars in prosperity to the state.

"The public in general is in sympathy with the work being done by the great California co-operative organization of growers, but it is woefully ignorant as to how these co-operative associations are formed and how they operate. We are constantly receiving requests from business organizations, colleges and schools and private individuals, asking to explain our organization.

"Such widespread interest on the part of the public deserves special attention. The present plan of education means we are going to take our story directly to the public instead of waiting for the public to come to us."

STILL OPERATOR TAKEN WITH MUCH EQUIPMENT

G. M. Curtis, who resides in the Longvale section, was paid a call by Sheriff Byrnes, Willis Ray, Joe Weselsky and several others last Tuesday and two stills were found bubbling merrily and seven barrels of mash ready for treatment. Curtis and his outfit were brought here and he has evinced a desire to plead guilty, going so far as to sign a confession to the effect that he had intoxicating liquor in his possesion on the date mentioned. His case will come up today.

FOURTH VICTIM DEAD FROM TRICHINOSIS

The fourth victim of trichinosis in the Ed Zeni family, of Ornbaun, died at the county hospital last Friday morning. It was Ray, a son, aged seven years. The remains were taken to the family home by Byron Ogle for interment.

The mother and the remaining children are still in a very bad condition.

GIVE $15 FOR SCHOOL LUNCHES

The Auxiliary at its meeting last Wednesday evening carried a motion to give $15 toward the hot school lunches. This sum will furnish the lunches for a month.

MRS. J. P. CUNNINGHAM IS SUMMONED BY DEATH

Tax Collector Lee Cunningham was summoned to Oakland the latter part of last week on account of the death of his mother, who passed away January 13, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grace Westergreen, in that city.

Mrs. Cunningham was a member of one of the oldest pioneer families both in California and of Mendocino county. She was the daughter of the late William Potter, who came to this state in 1854, and she was born near Healdsburg about 1850. In 1852, her father and his brother, Thomas Potter, and Mose Briggs settled in Potter valley this county and the subject of this sketch grew to womanhood there. She was married April 15, 1869, to J. P. Cunningham in Ukiah and four children were born to them, of whom three survive, as follows: Lee, of Ukiah, Mrs. Westergreen, and Watt, of Mono Lake. Her husband passed away at Fairoaks several months ago.

The funeral was held last Monday afternoon at Sacramento.

Mrs. Cunningham was a resident of Ukiah for many years and was beloved by all who knew her in the days of auld lang syne, and the news of her death will bring sincere regret to all.

LEGION DANCE TOMORROW FEATURES CROW ORCHESTRA

Ukiah lovers of the dance are looking forward with lively anticipation of pleasure to the dance scheduled for tomorrow night by the American Legion. The dance is to be given at the Legion hall and the big feature of the evening will be the music by Pop McCray's famous orchestra under the leadership of Jack Crow. This is one of the most popular aggregations of jazz musicians that has ever played for Ukiah dancers and all will be glad to welcome them back.

The floor is being put into the best of shape and with Crow's music and the Legion's good management, the dance should prove a big success.

H. Schirmer to Locate in Ukiah

Herbert Schirmer, who bought the Emporium dry goods store a little over a year ago, announces that he is closing out his business here, and will locate at Ukiah in the same line. In fact, Mr. Schirmer already has a store there, and expects to be in a handsome new building by the middle of next month. There are several prospective buyers for the Emporium, but no deal has as yet been closed. Mr. Schirmer is a progressive and hustling citizen, and the folks here regret the removal of himself and family.—Cloverdale Reveille.

Auxiliary to Give Card Party on 27th

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion will give a whist party in Odd Fellows' hall next Friday evening, January 27. The party will be on the order of the series given last year. Cards will be 50c and following the card games refreshments will be served free. The nickel dance, which was a feature following these parties last year, will be omitted.

The prizes will be given for the gentlemen and two for the ladies who have the highest scores.

LOW TEMPERATURE

With a temperature of 15 degrees yesterday morning, the thermometer registered the coldest it has registered since January 6, 1906, when it went to 15.

Yesterday's low temperature here has been exceeded but once and that was January 12, 1898, when the thermometer went down to 12.

New Secretary Picked for Commerce Chamber

Announcement has just been authorized by the Board of Directors of the appointment of Brice W. Hoskins of San Francisco as the new secretary of the recently re-organized Ukiah Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Hoskins is not unknown to residents of Ukiah as he will be remembered by many as Campaign Director for the American City Bureau during the recent campaign. He arrived from the city Tuesday accompanied by Mrs. Hoskins and they have taken up their permanent abode at the Lamb's boarding house. Mr. Hoskins assumed his official duties shortly after his arrival, and is desirous of meeting any and all persons who are interested in the development of the community. President Robert Austin and the members of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce are very much gratified at having solved the problem of filling the secretarial vacancy, and plans are now actively under way at headquarters for launching some real worth while community projects.

It is the intention of the Chamber of Commerce to take up the major program of work recently built from the individual suggestions of the members and to carry it through to successful culmination. The principal plank in the major program is the providing of new school buildings for Ukiah. It is the intention of the Chamber to immediately inaugurate frequent meetings of the entire membership to be known as the Members' Forum. The first Forum meeting will be announced soon and the subject assigned will be "New School Buildings." It is intended to provide local as well as out of town speakers for this occasion. Subsequent meetings of the Forum will be held from time to time with a view of enlisting the active interest of individual members in the big things that Ukiah will attempt to do through its Chamber of Commerce.

The Board at the meeting Tuesday voted its endorsement of the Congressional bill now pending which provides for the compensation to California Indians for lands previously owned by the different tribes in this section of the country. District representatives will be urged to lend their best support in obtaining the enactment of this measure. The total amount of the claims will epproximate, it is said, a sum upwards of a million and a half dollars. A committee representing the different tribes is now en route to Washington in the interest of the bill.

TREASURER HANDLES OVER $1,000,000 DURING YEAR

County Treasurer Clair Smith has completed the checking up of his books for the past year and reports that a total of $1,037,407 was handled in his office the past year. When he first took the office in 1919, the ttoal was $775,287.69 and in 1920 it increased to $852,581.55, from which it may be seen that the business of the office has increased materially in the three years past. A great part of the increase is due the school funds, which have nearly doubled as compared with what they were in 1919.

During the year just passed Mr. Smith collected from the various banks in the county $4,781.16 interest on county money deposited with them.

The expenditures during the month of December were $99,015.14 and the receipts were $424,719.37. There was a balance on hand Dec. 5 of $290,080.29. The balance January 1 was $615,784.52.

The following sums in fees, fines, etc., were received during the month of December: Recorder Elder $405.65; Judge Hurley, $85; Judge Whipple, $14; Judge Brown, 50c; Judge Furniss, $2; Judge Redwine, $4; Clerk Prather, $147.25; Judge Roth, $4; Steward Zimmerman, $97.39.

Local People On New League Com.

The Greater California League, recently formed to fight the $500,000,000 bond issue called for by the pending water and power act, has appointed two citizens of Ukiah on its advisory committee. They are Frank T. Barker and W. D. L. Held. Other Mendocino county members are Mrs. Oleva Clark of Fort Bragg and P. I. Lancaster, who was long in business in Willits but recently moved to San Francisco.

A statement issued this week by the organization says: "The pressing domestic problem today in nation, state and city is how to reduce the cost of government. Mounting tax rates are bearing heavily on us all. What folly then for the taxpayers of California to mortgage the state for $500,000,000 in order to go into the hydro-electric business, or any other business?"

BURGLARS BUSY

Burglars one night this week broke into the Cronce store on Perkins street and stole a quantity of merchandise, mostly tobacco.

W. F. ORNBAUN OUT FOR CORONER'S JOB

W. F. Ornbaun in this week's issue of the Dispatch-Democrat, announces his candidacy for coroner and public administrator, subject to the will of the voters at the primary election on August 29 next.

Very few people in Mendocino county need an introduction to Mr. Ornbaun. He is one of the best known citizens of the county, where he has resided all his life, and has been identified with politics and business ever since his maturity. For many years he was deputy sheriff under the late Henry Smith and for 15 years he was ranch manager for the American Hop and Barley Co. at Covelo.

As an official he has always made good and as a business man likewise, and if nominated and elected to the office he seeks, the people would be assured of a competent handling of the business of the office.

During the campaign he will make a house to house canvass.

Not So Low as to Peddle Booze

"I want my friends to know that I was not fined for peddling booze, but for having in it in my possession," said C. A. Carlson, recently of Comptche, to a Dispatch-Democrat reporter the first of the week. Carlson was arrested at Willits last week and fined $200.

"I had the booze in the car, but I wasn't peddling it," Carlson explained.

"I might drink it and I might treat my friends, but I wouldn't be so low as to make it or peddle it. The matter was bad enough without making it worse,".

Fort Bragg Bonds Bring High Premium

The $80,000 bond issue of the Ft. Bragg school district was bid in last Monday at the meeting of the board of supervisors by the First National Bank of Fort Bragg, which bid $85,300 and accrued interest. The nearest bid to this was for $84,528.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

A marriage license was issued the past week to Percy A. Kellum, 36, of Los Angeles, and Daisy May Fallon, 22, of Ukiah.

SCHOOL BOND ELECTION IS SET FOR MARCH 3

The proposition of issuing bonds for building a new school house for Ukiah is to come before the voters on the 3rd of March, according to a resolution passed by the board of trustees this week. The proposition is to issue $80,000 worth of bonds to run for 20 years, the sum of $4,000 a year being retired on the principal, the same amount and plan as that recently approved by the voters of Fort Bragg. The interest rate is 5½ per cent.

Contrary to first opinion, it has been found that all may vote at this election who were on the great register last year, and those who were not on last year's register must register at once if they wish to vote at this election.

The proposed building is to be a modern, concrete structure, built on the unit plan, and fitted up in the most approved manner as regards sanitation, ventilation and lighting.

AUXILIARY TO GIVE DANCE

The Ladies' Auxiliary at their meeting last Wednesday evening decided to give a dance on the evening of February 22, Washington's birthday.

J. J. MATHEWS ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR AUDITOR

County Auditor J. J. Mathews this week announces her candidacy for reelection to the office she is filling so admirably and her formal announcement is to be found in the regular column of this paper.

She is one official who scarcely needs any introduction to the voters of the county, as her acquaintanceship extends into the most remote sections, nor any recommendation, as her uniform courtesy and obliging ways have won her the favor of all who have ever had any dealings with the office. She is at once one of the most popular and efficient officers in the court house.

When she first took the office the work was less than half what it is today. For years, as the work increased, she worked often night and day herself to take care of the increased labor and in addition hired deputies out of her own salary to insure that the business of the people would not suffer. Eventually the burden became so great and she was forced to hire so much extra help at times, to take care of it as she felt it should be taken care of, that she was left with a bare pittance for herself. It finally dawned on the people that her faithfulness to their interests deserved better recognition and at the last session of the legislature she was given a deputy for the office.

Mrs. Mathews most certainly deserves the reelection she ask for and we hope that she will not have any opposition.

New Butcher Shop May Be Established

Rumors that Ukiah soon is to have a fourth butcher shop are current this week. Ben Edwards, who recently resigned his position with the Home Market, is contemplating starting into business for himself and it is stated on reliable authority that he has obtained refusal of the building adjoining the Kohn grocery, which was formerly occupied by a restaurant, but which has been vacant for several weeks.

Mr. Edwards, accompanied by his wife, left the first of the week for Santa Rosa and San Francisco, with a view to investigating possible sources of meat supplies.

BUYS JACKSON HOUSE

T. J. Joslin, who recently sold the Forks property to C. C. Brewer, has bought the old Jackson house on south Main street recently occupied by the Maze Rooming House.

Anderson, demanding return of money paid on account of his allotment, damages and other sums, aggregating in all $10,950. The plaintiff alleges he was induced to join the venture by misrepresentation. The case will attract much interest locally as the Scotch colonists have made many friends and acquaintances here.

MAYOR SMITH HOME

Mayor H. B. Smith returned last Saturday from San Francisco and is at his home in this city. He is still improving slowly and expects to get out as soon as warmer weather comes.

News From the Nation's Capitol

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The legislative record of the Republican party for 1921 is a legislative tragedy. It is a story of huge appropriations and extravagant expenditures; of promises unfulfilled or willfully broken; of legislation delayed or so badly constructed that it satisfies nobody; of agricultural interests deceived and business interests betrayed; of a partly frustrated attempt to serve only special privilege; of a leaderless majority groping in the dark and displaying at every uncertain step its lack of understanding of the problems confronting it and its inability to solve them.

The administrative record of the Republican party for 1921, except for the calling of the disarmament conference, upon the unfinished work of which it would be premature and unfair to pass judgment, and where the party has followed in the fottsteps of the previous Democratic administration in foreign affairs, has been an administrative failure, marked by bad appointments in its foreign service, rethronement of special privilege, nullification of the principle of the civil service law and a general recrudescence of reactionaryism.

The end of 1921 finds the liberal and progressive element of the party in revolt against the reactionary spirit and policy which dominates both the legislative and administrative branches, and there is nothing to indicate that the party intends to do any better or wishes to do any better in 1922.

The Democratic party, on the other hand, has a record for 1921 of trying to be helpful. It has given substantial help in the way of constructive amendments in specific items of legislation which was bad as a whole. Essentially a party of economy, it has sought to check Republican extravagance and to aid the Republicans generally by its example of progressivism. It has been successful chiefly in preventing some forms of unjust tax distribution, but only with the aid of Progressive Republicans from some Western states. The Democratic party offered a complete reconstruction program in 1919, which was rejected. As a minority party in Congress it can only point to previous Democratic prosperity when it was in full power and cite the progessive legislation which made that great prosperity possible. It can face the New Year secure in the past, happy in the present and hopeful of the future.

* * * *

Old Guard Plans to Coerce or Punish Progressives.

The Republican reactionary bosses in Congress are admittedly devising ways and means to coerce the progressive members of the agricultural bloc who rebel against voting for major administration measures.

Of all the reactionary Republican administrations the present one is perhaps the most reactionary. Special privilege has been rethroned and every effort is being made by the administration to deliver in the passage of the Fordney Tariff Bill; carpet-bagging has been revived in the South by the appointment of the late arrivals from the North to postmasterships; pernicious partisanship is likewise being rewarded through discriminations against ex-service men, and now the reactionary leaders are getting out the rack and the thumb-screw and other instruments of torture, figuratively speaking, of the political inquisition in order to compel the liberal and intelligent element to accept the dogma of reactionary faith.

The admission that such plans are under way is made by Representative Fess (Ohio), Chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, in an interview with Mr. J. Fred Essary, Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun.

The plans include two dire threats—one to deprive insurgent members of patronage, and the other to withhold campaign funds when the insurgents stand for reelection.

In the first case, according to Mr. Essary, who is one of the most reliable and able of the many reliable and able correspondents here, Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin has not been recognized in the distribution of patronage in his state, such as judges, attorneys, marshals and collectors. It is understood that the postmastership patronage has been taken out of the hands of the rebellious Wisconsin representatives and turned over to Senator Lenroot.

Chairman Fess in his interview is quoted as saying:

"It is true that the members of our executive committee have under consideration now a proposal that campaign funds be held from Republicans who will not stand with the organization on party measures. For the most part Republicans who voted with the Democrats against party measures come from districts that are either normally Democratic or Republican by small majorities.

"On the other hand most of the members of our Executive Committee come from the big contributing states like New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio. They do not feel that the funds collected there should be sent into other states to help elect men who will not stand with the party after they have been elected."

Senator Kenyon Says Newberry's Seat Was Purchased

Senator William S. Kenyon of Iowa, the leader by the right of ability of the western group of Progressive Republican Senators, in a speech supplementing the great deliverances of Senators Pomerene (Dem., Ohio,) and Walsh (Dem., Mont.,) disclosed a new factor in the Newberry senatorial case when he asserted that the social lobby had been active in behalf of Senator Newberry.

This means, of course, that the Newberry supporters have exhausted the last efforts to bolster up his case by what may be called the plea of the petticoats. By invoking the aid of the feminine sex in this case, the inevitable comparison is raised of a male offender hiding behind a woman's skirts. After reviewing the law bearing upon the case and presenting some of the major facts, Senator Kenyon made this summary:

"I assert that under the record the following conclusions can reasonably, safely and legitimately be drawn:

"That the committee expended approximtely $263,000.

"That the committee violated the Federal Statute and the statutes of Michigan, and that such action entered into the election through the primary.

"That the committee was not a voluntary committee. It was picked by Mr. Newberry.

"That Mr. Newberry was responsible for the acts of the committee, and that the agency of Cody and King is established beyond question, and he would be responsible in a civil action for debts contracted by them in the campaign.

"That Mr. Newberry knew about the campaign, financially and otherwise, and knew of most of the expenditures of the campaign.

Denying that the Newberry case is any test of Republicanism, Senator Kenyon says:

"It is an insult to the Republican party to claim that a vote on this question is a test of Republicanism. It is an insult to the millions of Republicans throughout the country to maintain that the majority in this body must be maintained through corrupt elections. The people of the country have a right to inquire as to the proposition of fixing a price on seats in this body."

"There is no use beating about the bush in this case. The cold fact is that this seat in the Senate was purchased, and the price paid was at least $263,000."

He made it plain how the public view these enormous expenditures in campaigns by referring to the primary campaign of Governor Lowden and General Wood last year, and inferentially contrasted the attitude of the two Lowden delegates with Mr. Newberry's attitude that he knew nothing of the campaign when he said:

"We had two precious scoundrels of the Missouri delegation who were for Lowden for President, and who had $2,500 a piece of Lowden money in their pockets or in the bank. They did not seem to see anything unusual or strange about that. They sat there with brazen effrontery and bland countenances; they had violated no statute. The Republicans did not dare to nominate General Wood or Governor Lowden, because of the enormous expenditures in their campaigns."

Referring to attacks made upon Henry Ford by Newberry supporters, Senator Kenyon said:

"The President of the United States evidently did not share in the belief of many Republicans that Mr. Ford was such a dangerous citizen, for he spent a very pleasant few days in camping with him and others some months ago. . . . Secretary Weeks, who has suddenly leaped into fame as the destroyer of the agricultural bloc, did not share this opinion, because he had Mr. Ford come to see him about Muscle Shoals."

In his concluding sentences Senator Kenyon declared:

"If the Senate of the United States is to justify the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars to secure a seat here, the rule of the people is gone."

Finally he said that whatever the result in the Senate, the Newberry case will be heard in the court of the great American people.

"They (the people) will know the record," he said "even though many Senators do not, and there is as little question of the judgment there as there is of the verdict here; but be assured if Mr. Newberry is seated the judgment there will reverse the verdict here."

Newberry's Silence Convicts Him, Says Senator Reed.

Senator Reed (Dem., Mo.,) in a brief but brilliant and caustic address, put the main issue of the Newberry case in this question:

"Is a United States Senatorship to become like a string of pearls hung in the window of a jewelry store, that can be purchased for money, whether the money is that of a bawd or of a virtuous woman? Men competent and qualified to fill an office do not need to buy it."

Senator Reed stressed the fact that Senator Newberry had failed personally to defend himself— a fact which necessarily weighs heavily against Senator Newberry with the public generally, as it does with Senator Reed. He said:

"It seems to me this case is complete, indisputable. If there were one thing needed to make it a certainty it is the failure of Senator Newberry to take the witness stand.

"If Senator Newberry did not know of the expenditure of this money, why did he not take the witness stand and say he did not know? If there was any circumstance requiring explanation and exculpation, why did he not take the stand to make that explanation? Here was a tribunal the members of which, regardless of politics, would have been glad to have heard him vindicate himself. But he did not take the stand. He remained silent. I will not vote for a man who cannot testify in his own behalf. I will not vote to seat a man who dare not open his lips regarding transactions which unexplained are condemnatory."

Senator King Points to Big Post Office Deficit.

When the recent deficiency bill was under consideration in the Senate a short time prior to the holiday adjournment, Senator King (Dem. Utah,) who is of an inquiring turn of mind as well as of incisive speech, shed some light on the amendments relating to the Patent Office and the Post Office. The Patent Office amendment provided for additional employees from January 1 to June 30, 1922, with total salaries of $52,-975. The following colloquy ensued:

Mr. KING. May I inquire whether the employees named herein are already in the service of the Government?

Mr. WARREN, (Chairman, Appropriations Committee). No, they are not.

Mr. KING. This means taking on a large number of additional employees?

Mr. WARREN. That is my understanding of it.

When a Post Office amendment came up Senator King said:

"I see a large number of items aggregating nearly $7,000,000 for the Post Office Department. As I have stated repeatedly, we have but recently entered upon the fiscal year of 1922, and yet we are confronted with a deficit of nearly $7,-000,000 in the Post Office Department. There has been a great deal of talk about economies that the Postmaster General was effectuating in improved service, but nothwithstanding the enormous appropriation which was made by hundreds of millions of dollars we are asked now to appropriate nearly $7,000,-000 to meet a deficiency. I should like to know how it is possible that the enormous appropriations made for that department could have been expended and we should have deficits so soon. At this rate we shall have a deficit two or three or four times that amount before the expiration of the fiscal year."

Later he asked: "Are any steps being taken by the committee on Post Offices and Post Roads for the purpose of increasing the revenue derived from the operation of the Post Office Deparement? I ask because these deficits seem to be continuing. We have been told repeatedly that the deficits amount to $7,000,000 for postage alone. These additional amounts for losses by reason of carrying parcel post, and so forth, will make the deficit in the Post Office Department perhaps $100,000,000."

He learned that no definite program was being considered.

Our First Disarmament Treaty.

The first disarmament treaty to which the United States was a party was negotiated by a Democratic diplomat and signed by a Democratic President James Monroe—the Rush-Bagot Treaty of 1818, which provided for the naval disarmament on the Great Lakes, allowing one vessel of one hundred tons armed with 18-pound cannon on Lake Ontario, one on Lake Champlain and two on the other great lakes. Under the terms of the treaty no other vessels were to be built thereon and all other armed vessels on those lakes were to be forthwith dismantled. By a tacit understanding no additional forts or garrisons were to be placed on the 3,000 mile water line stretching westward to Puget Sound. As a result of this Democratic disarmament treaty peace has prevailed on the American-Canadian border for more than a hundred years.

Administration Test for Ex-Service Men.

The reason for the discriminations practised by the Harding administration against ex-service men in the appointment of postmasters was succintly stated by Representative Wingo (Dem., Texas,) when he said:

"Whenever a Republican ex-service man fails to get an indorsement of the Republican organization, however acceptable may have been his service in France, if he has not made a fight in the political trenches, for the Republican organization he falls by the wayside and is forgotten."

Our Own Abe Martin.

(From the Deming (N. Mex.) Headlight).

According to John C. O'Leary, the well known local bon vivant and psycho-analyst, President Harding has one accomplishment to his credit that far overlaps anything that was done during the entire eight years of Woodrow Wilson's regime. Harding's brand of prosperity, O'Leary says has made beans taste as good as strawberries.

"Rush Hours"

In all lines of business patronage is irregular. Street cars, stores, banks and restaurants have their "rush hours" when some delays in service are unavoidable. The public, with the situation before its eyes, good naturedly accepts a degree of inconvenience.

There are "rush hours" in a telephone exchange. With business service the "loads" of telephone traffic are determined by commercial activities, banking hours, etc.—the "load" of the residence telephone varies with household and social needs.

The demands upon the telephone operator and a complicated mechanical equipment cannot be seen, but telephone traffic varies in every hour of every day according to the individual desires of thousands of patrons.

If there should be at times a delay in answering your call, remember that trained young women with nimble fingers are doing their best to serve you, and that at the moment there may be a "rush" of telephone traffic.

The exercise of patience and consideration will mean better service.

CARLESSNESS OF PARENTS INVITES BAD DISASTER

Only by the sheerest good fortune were the lives of four children saved at Healdsburg, January 4th, when the Northwestern Pacific's Eureka Flyer, traveling at thirty-five miles an hour, ran into an automobile in which they were riding. Thirteen year old Leland Bailey was at the wheel of the car and with him were his brother Paul aged ten, and sisters Martha and Vivian aged sixteen and eight respectively.

At the Grant street crossing where the accident occurred, is an automatic wig-wag signal which was in motion signifying the approach of the train when the automobile passedit. This is admitted by the boy who was driving the car and by a pedestrian who was standing at the crossing when the accident occurred. As the train approached this crossing the locomotive engineer saw the machine stop clear of the track, then start ahead and stop immediately in front of the onrushing trin. The thirteen year old driver of the machine and his brother jumped from the car, and in fear of the consequences, ran away from the scene of the accident leaving their sisters to face the inevitable alone.

Martha Bailey, the older girl, refused to abandon her sister in this crisis and the two of them were in the machine when the driving shaft of the locomotive struck it, throwing it into a ditch at the side of the road. Martha was thrown clear of the wreckge while her little sister Vivian was thrown into the ditch and seriously injured when the car fell on top of her.

No one can blame thirteen year old Leland Bailey for the injuries his sister sustained, but who can excuse the parents of these children for their carelessness in permitting them to travel about the country in an automobile unaccompanied by an older person. The state law refuses a license to drive an automobile to anyone less than sixteen years old, but these parents, in the face of prohibition, entrusted his own life and those of his sisters and brother to a thirteen year old lad. What makes the case worse is that the parents knew that the children would pass over this railroad crossing in the course of their journey.

When an adult driving a car tries to "beat the train to a crossing" he is subject to the severest censure, but what can be said of parents who risk the lives of their children in the manner the lives of these children were endangered at Healdsburg Wednesday.

J. H. Martensen underwent a minor operation this week.

There are 462 pupils of school age in the Willits grammar school districts, and of these 229 are boys and 232 girls. All of these are white with the exception of the Chinese boy who is attending school.—Willits News.

WILLITS MAN DIES AT CAR'S STEERING WHEEL

WILLITS, January 16.—Denwood DeShiell, better known as Dan DeShiell, fell over dead last Friday morning while motoring to Cummings with A. E. Knowls. Mr. DeShiell has charge of the construction of the home W. A. S. Foster is having built near Cummings and Mr. Knowls is a plumber who is working on the building. They left Willits early that morning and when about six miles out and when they started to go down the grade on the other side of the hill Mr. DeShiell fell over dead on the steering wheel. Mr. Knowls was in the back seat and just had time to jump over and stop the machine before it went over the grade.

The State Highway Commission had a crew of men working on the road near that point and the body was placed in their truck and brought to town. The doctor made an examination and stated that death must have been almost instantaneous. Robert Cleveland came up and held an inquest.

Mr. DeShiell was born in Sonoma county, March 22, 1857, and was therefore nearly 65 years of age. He started to learn the carpenter trade when he was a boy and has worked at that business all of his life. He afterwards studied architecture and drew most of the plans for the buildings erected in Willits during the past 11 years. He had charge of all the construction work for the Northwestern Redwood Co.

He leaves a wife and seven grown children.

The funeral will be held this afternoon.

L. J. Lane, of Willits, was a Ukiah visitor the latter part of last week. He has recently moved to Longvale section, where he will engage in ranching.

NEW SLOGAN PROPOSED FOR NORTH BAY CITIES

"On the Redwood Highway" is the slogan recommended by the chamber of commerce of Santa Rosa for the use of its members and all affiliated organizations, and it wouldn't be a bad idea for Ukiah and Mendocino county to follow suit. The Santa Rosa chamber passed the following resolution;

The redwood highway stretching along the coast counties from Sausalito to the Oregon line is the only highway in the world entitled to this name, and it is the consensus of opinion of the local commercial body that great advertising value lies behind the slogan suggested, not only advertising for the highway, but that the highway is advertising for the communities served by it.

"In view of the fact that the state highway running from Sausalito to the Oregon line is designated and now known as "The Redwood Highway" and is the only automobile highway in the world which can be so designated, and,

"Whereas, The advertising value to the cities and counties situated along this redwood highway can be greatly enhanced,

"Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce write its members, the business men and official bodies of this city and Sonoma county and use its good offices to encourage the printing of the slogan:

"ON THE REDWOOD HIGHWAY"

on all stationery, circulars and advertising matter, and to pledge its united support in furthering the far-reaching and inexpensive method to direct attention not only to the redwood highway, but to the city of Santa Rosa and to Sonoma county."

NEW GAME DIST. THE BUNK

The new law which makes a separate fish district of the streams in this county which flow into the ocean is turning out to be a fizzle, according to many who were for the law when it was first proposed. According to the the law as it stands, fishing in the coast streams is allowed from July 1 to February 15. When the season opens for the remainder of the county the first of May it will be closed in the coast streams, which closes Anderson valley and Comptche streams and others in that zone. There can be no fishing in Anderson valley, the Noyo, Big River, Albion or any of the other coast streams until July 1st.

CARLISLE CONVICTED OF MURDER BY JURY

Jack Johnson, alias Carlisle, who murdered Ed Bishop and hid his body in the Ten Mile woods near Ft. Bragg several months ago, was convicted of the crime of first degree murder by the jury last Friday evening. The ballot was unanimous for conviction from the very first, but six of the jury could not bring themselves to vote for the death penalty and eventually after several hours' balloting the others came over to their way of thinking and a recommendation to life imprisonment was brought in.

The defense was conducted by Attorneys Held and Eversole, who did all they could for their client, but the latter's tales were so many and so different that their plea of self-defense was shot into smithereens by District Attorney L. I. Gibson, and they did not even venture to put the prisoner on the stand.

Gibson handled the prosecution like a veteran and his closing argument was a masterpiece. He was congratulated following the trial by one of the defense attorneys, who stated that the closing argument was one of the best he had ever heard in this courtroom.

Carlisle was sentenced by Judge Preston Monday morning and taken to San Quentin to begin serving his sentence.

Frank Albertson was under the weather the greater part of the week on account of a cold and ulcerated tooth. He was able to be about again yesterday afternoon.

Miss Mamie Gowell came up from Sausalito for a week end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gowell, in this city the latter part of last week.

Ukiah City Forty Years Ago

Interesting Trip Across the Plains

Geo. Sturtevant Arrives on Scene

By J. B. SANFORD

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., January 18.—On this date forty years ago the Sanford family arrived in Ukiah from the corn fields of sunny Tennessee. We left Tennessee on December 27, 1881, and arrived in Oakland January 8, 1882. At Council Bluffs we boarded the old "accommodation" train across the continent, which consisted of 37 freight cars with several coaches and a caboose. The coaches were old fashioned sleepers and each fellow furnished his own bedding. There were stoves in each end of the car where coffee could be made. We had several baskets of "grub" and replenished the larder at various stations as eggs could be secured from vendors at the rate of 3 for 5 cents, and other things in proportion until we got away out on the plains away from civilization.

We arrived in Oakland on January 8, remained there about ten days, and then started for Ukiah. At Cloverdale we took the four-horse stage to Ukiah. There were 14 passengers on the stage and several tons of mail and the trip was tiresome. Among the passengers on that famous trip was Billie Gibson, now under-sheriff, and his hearty laugh could be heard all the way up the canyon. We arrived at our destination in the afternoon and were met by "Uncle" John Todd and taken to his home and in a few days were domiciled in a house that stood where Dr. Gibson's pretty bungalow now stands.

Ukiah was a quaint old town. There were two streets—State street running north and south and Perkins street running east and west. There were other streets that ran half way up to the foothills and turned around and came back. Everything west of the courthouse to the hills was a manzanita grove, and the streets were wagon roads for a distance and then diminished into trails. There were one or two houses to the block, the west end being a manzanita grove which was cleared as fuel was needed. The block east of the court house was composed of wooden shacks except the Redemeyer building. The old Hagan house stood where Hofman's store now stands and was a rendezvous for politicians. An old wooden building stood where the Odd Fellows' building now stands and C. Hofman, a newcomer, had a store there. Charlton's blacksmith shop was on the corner where the Palace hotel is located. A frame building was where the Preston building now stands and was used as a printing office by the Dispatch-Democrat. Everything to the north and west of Gibson creek was a thick black oak woods, and "Uncle" John Todd had a bunch of woodchoppers at work there at $1.50 per cord, and the wood was delivered to those who did not have a forest in their back yard at $3 per cord. Billie Gibson, now under-sheriff, and Charley Hensley were the champion woodchoppers, Billie being able to fall the trees, chop, split and cord an average of two cords a day. He was also the champion sheep shearer and could shear from 100 to 120 sheep a day. He was the standard by which all labor was measured and was just as jolly then as he is now.

Into this forest, my two brothers and I went to make our fortune at chopping wood at $1.50 a cord. I was 12 years old, Ed 14, and Oscar 16. They divided equally with me which was very generous of them. I stayed with the job until March 4, when I became an "alumnus of the cross cut saw" and started to school. I was a queer little Tennesseean with my southern accent and garb, a coonskin cap, mittens, pulse warmers, woolen scarf around my neck, brogan shoes, blue jeans pants with a patch on the "western hemisphere," a sling in my "pistol" pocket, and the other pockets full of rocks—my ammunition.

We kids could certainly throw rocks. Then we went rabbit hunting we never thought of taking a gun—just used rocks. When a rabbit was in a hundred yards of us, he was our meat. If by chance we missed it we hollored so loud that we scared it to death. If the rabbit goth further than a hundred yards then the sling was brought forth, the same kind with which David slew Goliath. Ordinarily we could hit things at two hundred yards with the sling; and we could sail a flat rock a quarter of a mile. There were objections to the use of flat rocks as they maimed the game to such an extent it was considered cruel and inhuman, so a counsel of war was held, a kind of disarmament conference, and flat rocks were barred—and we had a more civilized warfare.

Well, I went to school with fear and trembling for I knew the "new kid" would have to run the gauntlet and be whipped by all the boys or "lick" them. I had fortunately made friends with the "manzanita gang" during several rabbit hunting expeditions, so they decided that they would break the rules and see that I had a square deal. In the scrap that followed I fought the best I could till I got to a rock pile, and then, Oh, Mamma how I bounced rocks off the heads of the attacking force. After school the kids followed me to town calling me all the names they could think of except a black Republican. There my two brothers awaited me and off the wagon they jumped and the rock battle began and every kid within a hundred yards was knocked down and disabled. When they got beyond the hundred yards, then the slings were brought into use and the rocks hummed through the air as the bullets did at the Argonne forest. As the gang "beat it" with head up and hair a-flying, and one gallus and a sore toe, we heard Will Wadsworth and Lafe Van Dusen say "Gosh, those Tennesseeans are hell with rocks."

A few days later a "big" boy from the hop fields of Hopland arrived on the scene. He was 17 years old and a fine fellow with a stately stride and very methodical. He always went and came the same way to school. Remembering the time I had had, I suggested that we "cut out the rough stuff" and act like human beings. After "sizing up" the "big" boy, the kids decided to let him go, lest they might get "rocked" again. The big Hoplander was none other than George A. Sturtevant. George went awhile and then went away to the university. In the fall of 1885 and 1886 I was champion hoppicker in Ukiah valley and made a few dollars and went to the San Jose state normal school in 1887. Sturtevant had graduated a short time before I graduated from the normal school and I had lost track of him. He, however, had been teaching school. The next time I met him was at institute in 1890. He delivered an address that was a classic and attracted some attention. I have never forgotten that address. The Republican party was looking around for material to fill up their ticket and nominated Sturtevant for the Assembly. He got an old horse and cart and visited nearly all of the voters, and although the county went Democratic by 250 majority, Sturtevant won by a good vote. He kept on studying law and was admitted to practice and made a good record. He was elected district attorney by a large vote in 1894, and I was elected to the Assembly the same year. Sturtevant made a great district attorney and was appointed deputy attorney general of the state in 1899 and held the position until 1907 when he was appointed a superior judge of San Francisco which position he held for 13 years until he was advanced to a position on the appellate bench in 1920 by a staggering vote.

I do not know what Sturtevant's desires are, but there are thousands of good citizens in Mendocino county who would like to see him crown his life work as a member of the supreme court of this state. He is well grounded in the law and has a splendid judicial temperament and would honor the supreme bench. Should he permit his friends to enlist him as a candidate he would certainly make a great race. There is no power on earth that could induce him to do anything that was not right or just. So it may be that he could be induced to get into the race—if not this time, certainly some other time. It is going to be a hard thing to run the state or national government without some one from Mendocino county on the job. We have the tallest redwoods, the best hops, the finest apples, the greatest county, the biggest men and the most beautiful women on earth—the best of everything and you cannot get along without us.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE MASTER AVIATOR.

I SAW an aviator great.
Without a fear or care
The ether ocean navigate,
The master of the air.
With sudden speed he mounted high
In clouds afar to fade—
The easy sailor of the sky,
Afloat and unafraid.

And then he came returning, down
Within my vision's ken,
With many a long and graceful sweep
He circled near and far,
A happy ship upon the deep
Blue heavens like a star.

Yet there were men who did not see
The wonder in the blue,
Or look upon him languidly,
As mortals often do—
So busy with their man-made things
They neither saw nor heard
The music of his beating wings,
The beauty of the bird.

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?

By C. N. LURIE

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"EVERY ONE ARE."

THERE is always a strong tendency among writers or speakers to make a verb agree in number with the noun that is nearest to the verb in position in the sentence. For example, many persons use such sentences as the following: "Every one of these letters were signed by me," without recognizing the grammatical error involved.

The subject (nominative) of the sentence is not "letters," but "one," modified by "every." One is in the singular number and requires, therefore, a singular verb. "Letters" is in the objective case, governed by the preposition "of." You cannot say, "Every one were signed," and the use of the phrase "of the letters" does not change the grammatical rule involved. Therefore, instead of saying "Everyone of these letters were signed by me," say "Every one of these letters was signed by me."

Of course, the same rule applies to "each." Do not say, "Each of these letters are mine;" say, "Each of these letters is mine."

WHY?—

DO WE BLUSH?

ANY shock or emotion which makes the heart pump an extra supply of blood into the arteries and veins which supply the face will give rise to the reaction which we call "blushing." The emotion, of course, must be one of the variety which causes the heart to beat faster than usual. Excitement, embarrassment or anger will cause this, while fear, which retards the action of the heart, will cause the opposite effect, producing a pale white look.

Because the shock or emotion must be one to which we are not accustomed, some persons blush far more readily than others. A person, for example, who is not in the habit of listening to certain language will blush from embarrassment when he hears it the first few times but, if the experience is continued, he will become "hardened" and lose the ability to blush—which is the reason that blushing is considered to be one of the attributes of innocence.

Russian River Fish Protection Association to Be Formed Soon

All along the 138 miles of water comprising the Russian river, great interest has been aroused in the movement under way to rid the river of carp and re-stock it with fish to make this splendid fishing stream an angler's paradise, says the Santa Rosa Democrat.

In the near future, if present plans are carried out, there will be organized an association which will probably be known as the "Russian River Fish Protection Association." It is planned to call a meeting of sportsmen living at all points along the river, for the development of this organization. It is estimated that more than 200,000 people are attracted to the Russian river annually, and there is no more picturesque spot to be found anywhere. When the plans are ready, due notice will be given of this meeting.

Some time since it was mentioned that the State Fish and Game Commission would aid in the work of ridding the river of carp, which in the spawning season feed upon the spawn and thus prevent the introduction of new fish life into the stream. It was stated that the Commission would try seining the river, but this plan is not deemed feasible by those who for years have been familiar both with the life of the carp and the condition of the river.

They claim at best the seining would not half do the work, an account of the many deep holes and the mass of roots that would necessarily thwart in great measure the efficiency of the nets.

FAVOR FISH TRAPS

It is contended that the better plan, and the only real method, is the construction of fish traps in Mark West Creek and other tributaries of the river, where the trout and other fish go to spawn. It is also urged that in order to re-stock the river with bass, for instance, the fish hatchery in Mendocino county should be devoted for some time solely to the propagation of young bass. It is planned to bring this matter strongly to the attention of the Fish and Game Commission.

Pioneers of this movement who might be mentioned with much commendation are County Assessor Hoke Smith of this city and John W. Keegan of Mirabel Park. Mr. Keegan is most enthusiastic and he heartily concurs in both the building of fish traps and the operation of the hatchery as proposed.

As an attractive outing place for many thousands of people annually, the river might be said to be yet in its infancy. Each year now for many years past it has grown in popularity, and when fishing is again worth while the attraction would be tremendously increased.

Both Sonoma and Mendocino counties are interested and there are thousands of sportsmen in San Francisco and all over northern California who would willingly come to the assistance of the promoters in their effort to make the river a good field for anglers. Within the next week or so it is hoped to unfold definitely some plan of campaign.

LeRoy Purchases Central Pharmacy

J. I. LeRoy, an experienced registered pharmacist of many years standing and for six years a member of the well known Ukiah druggist firm, Morris & LeRoy, purchased the Central Pharmacy at Sausalito from Lannes Sharman on Tuesday forenoon, says the Sausalito News. His wife, who has had several years experience in the drug sales department, will be with him in the store. This week he has had the store front painted and also attractive signs on the windows. Securing the permission of the trustees to place an electric sign overhanging the sidewalk, he has ordered an attractive sign.

Jack Weller and George Golden, prominent banking men of Fort Bragg, were here the first of the week to purchase the Fort Bragg school bonds for the First National Bank of that city.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS HOLD HIKING RECORD

Agnes Nevin and Madelaine Orr, two high school girls, hiked into town Friday morning from Low Gap, a long fifteen miles.

Time, four and one-half hours. Pretty fair, as there wasn't much to hike on except mud.

When asked how they felt:

"Hungry," said Agnes.

"Famished," said Madelaine, and the two vanished through a screen door.

A little later they reappeared good as new, smiling as the restaurant keeper came out and made a quick sally into a nearby grocery.

"He's gone to restock," they agreed.

"I'm feeling fine," said Agnes, let's do it again."

"Sure thing," replied the other.

Madelaine went (by train) to Healdsburg to visit over the week end. Sunday she returned to the Ursuline College, Santa Rosa, where she will graduate in May.

BASKETBALL GAMES

The result of the basketball games last Saturday night was a victory for the boys of the Ukiah high school and for the girls of the Fort Bragg high school.

MRS. LUCY DOOLEY WAS ONE OF OLDEST PIONEERS

Ukiah friends of Mrs. Lucy Dooley, beloved pioneer woman of Hopland, were somewhat shocked to hear of her death, which occurred last Saturday after a rally in her condition had given warrant to a hope that she would recover.

The funeral was held last Tuesday at Hopland and was attended by a large concourse of friends, including many Ukiah people. There were numerous and very beautiful floral tokens.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Lucy E. Moore, was born in Iowa in 1850, and as an infant crossed the plains with her parents in 1852. In the early 60's the family settled at Hopland and she was married there July 3, 1865, to Elijah Dooley.

She was the mother of fifteen children, of whom thirtteen survive.
